FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Thank you to all parents for preparing students for in-term swimming. What a first day in terms of the weather!! It was very good to see our students take it all in their stride and just get on with it. That is what resilience is all about and as the tuition is free, it is great to see that we make the most of these opportunities, regardless of when our slot in the calendar occurs.

Don’t forget to read the final reminders, later in the newsletter, about the Quiz Night on this Friday. It’s sure to be a very enjoyable and, no doubt, humorous evening as the teams compete for fabulous prizes and for the joy of winning…..or maybe not! It’s the ‘having a go’ and ‘doing your best’ that’s important on these occasions and I know the organisers have done everything in their power to make it an event worth attending. May the best team win!

If anyone is interested, Tracy Smith who is on our Board and also the Secretary of our P&C has information through a Law Society function she attended on Cyberbullying. Tracy is happy to share so if you are interested, please contact her for further details.

Congratulations to our star students for being accepted into specialist high school places. Tom will be attending Mt Lawley Senior High School and Brooke, Kirra and Oliver were all accepted into Perth Modern School. A world of opportunities awaits and I have no doubt these four students will make the most of them. And talking of star students, some of you may be aware that Tamsin Cook who attended Carine Primary school, will be swimming in the Olympics later in the year. Tamsin is the youngest team member and she is very grounded. What we all know, is that she will be giving of her very best as she faces the challenge of swimming for her country. She epitomises what it is to be a Carine Kid.

Yesterday I also attended a meeting of all IPS Principals to hear about the uniqueness of this program as well as its follow-up research which is just being evaluated so that we can set more strategic directions in all of our schools. Our Director-General Ms Sharyn O’Neill, gave her insights into the program from its inception until now and as usual, her firm focus is always to ensure that all innovations and reforms have positive impacts in every classroom. It was a very productive day with implications for all staff to ensure that they keep taking the next step in their ongoing development journey. I know that in our staff’s culture, it is one of ongoing reflection on how much impact they are having on their students’ learning and development. I would also like to thank our parents who take the time to provide positive feedback to me and my staff about the work they are doing with our students. It is very much appreciated.
